

CREW

CARRIES OFF NOMINATION FOR SUPREME JUDGE

WHILE SECRETARY LAYLIN WINS BY ACCLAMATION.

CHAIRMAN GROSVENOR'S SPEECH

On the Cuban Plank of Platform, Convention Indorses President—The Convention.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, O., May 28.—L. C. Laylin of Norwalk, was nominated for Secretary of State by acclamation, and for Supreme Judge W. B. Crew of McConneville was nominated on the fifth ballot. The Hanna men backed Crew who was favorite in the race.

For Supreme Judge the second ballot stood: Wood 109, Summers 175, Savage 41, Phillips 76, Henderson 59, Burrows 77, Norris 126, Crew 211. Necessary to choice 438. Crew was nominated on the fifth ballot.

For Dairy and Food Commissioner Horace Ankeny of Green county, won on the second ballot.

Cleveland, May 28.—The delegates went into the Republican state convention today enlivened by the prospect of a hot fight between Hanna and Cox over the ticket. Hanna has abandoned his "hands off" policy and has declared for Horace Ankeny, of Greene county, for dairy and food commissioner, and Wm. Kirtley, of Defiance, for member of the state board of public works.

Cox is out for Freu Herbst, of Columbus for food commissioner, and W. T. McCrean of Sidney, for public works. With Cox, in his fight for Herbst, are the Blackburn machine and the wholesale grocery interests in the large cities.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, O., May 28.—The second day's session of Republican state convention was called to order at 10:15 this morning by Governor Nash, the temporary chairman. The galleries of Central armory were well filled at that hour. A large number of ladies occupied the east gallery. The state seats were filled with state officials and party leaders. Senator Hanna, Congressman Dick and George B. Cox sat with their delegations.

Rev. M. O. Simmons of Unity church of Cleveland, pronounced the invocation. The report of the credentials committee seating an alderman delegation from Washington county was accepted. There were no other contests. M. M. Gillett of Newark, represented the 17th district on the credentials committee.

Eugene Lewis, of Cincinnati, presented the report of the committee on permanent organization, making Congressman Grosvenor permanent chairman. Secretary John R. Malloy of Columbus and the remainder of the temporary organization was made permanent.

Grosvenor was cheered as Lewis escorted him up the aisle.

The hall was cold and so was the crowd as General Grosvenor did not warm them up much. His reference to Senator Hanna evoked applause but Roosevelt's name brought out the first real sign of life in the big crowd.

GROSVENOR

As Chairman of the Convention Has a Few Things to Say—Outline of Speech.

Cleveland, O., May 28.—Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor, permanent chairman, almost wholly confined his speech today to national issues. After congratulating the convention upon "the happy outcome of the session of the general assembly," and paying the usual compliments to Senators Foraker and Hanna, he devoted considerable time to the assassination of President McKinley. "Fortunate it has been," he declared, "that with M. Kinley the Republicans elected a brave, conscientious and able man to the office of vice president," adding, "Ohio will not forget the strong declaration that Roosevelt made at Buffalo and that he has carried the flag of true Republicanism high advanced in the contests that have followed."

Reviewing McKinley's record Grosvenor asserted that the accession of the Democratic party to power in 1892 was the signal for "the far-reaching and overwhelming devastation wrought upon the country by Democratic administration when wages fell until starvation stalked upon the families of the wage earners." He reviewed the Democratic platforms of 1896 and 1900.

A story of the war with Spain followed. "The achievements of our army," said he, "were brilliant in the fullest degree, and in little more than a hundred days a proud nation lay prostrate, appealing for terms of peace." Grosvenor declared that the Republicans of Ohio will vindicate the honor and integrity of the army and navy, adding, "the American flag will never be pulled down while a Republican president is in the white house."

Considerable time was given to Cuba. "How is it with Cuba?" he asked. "We freed her from the despotism which had crushed her life, enslaved her people and obliterated her manhood for 300 years. We have not tarnished the American character, nor polluted the American flag. Our opponents during all these bitter experiences with the reconstruction of Cuba, the enfranchisement of Porto Rico and the struggle for the civilization of the Philippines, have been more unpatriotic than it is possible for me to describe in words."

Referring to the struggle in the Philippines, the speaker said: "The men whose ancestors carried the flag of this country over hundreds of battlefields to grand triumph at Appomattox have not stained their hands, nor tarnished their flag by unnecessary severity in the prosecution of this war. It is a war in which the issue is the victory of the Filipino insurgents and the disgrace of America, or the triumph of the one and the civilization of the other. On the loyal side stand the Republicans and on the side of detraction and calumny I arrayed the apparently solid force of our opponents. Yet they offer no solution except the cowardly proposal of scuttling and abandonment."

Speaking of the tariff, he said that when revision becomes necessary it is a question for the people of the country to say whether that revision shall be made by the friends or enemies of protection.

Concerning trusts, he held that a Democrat, in power or out, in a national way, has ever interfered with the operation of trusts, while today there is every appearance of conflict to death between the government and certain recognized injurious trusts. This power, he declared comes from a Republican law passed under a Republican president. The Sherman law stood on the statute books of the United States during the entire administration of Cleveland who never made an effort to enforce it.

The speaker paid his respects to the free silver issue. "The energies of the Democratic party," he declared "are devoted to an effort to shake of the old man of the sea that rode then to disaster in two presidential years but that old man does not let go very easily."

In closing, he deplored what he termed the Democratic "false indictment of the corruption and wickedness and cruelty and barbarity of our army, publishing to all the world that our army is a body of organized hashibazouks."

PLATFORM

Cleveland, May 28.—The Ohio state Republican convention platform gives Hanna praise for "commanding alike the respect and confidence of labor and capital." Then it goes against Hanna's Cuban idea by endorsing Roosevelt's reciprocity plan for Cuba in the following paragraph:

"We believe it is due alike to Cuba and ourselves, in accordance with Republican principles of reciprocity, that proper and reasonable trade concessions shall be made by our government to Cuba in return for the concessions on American products and further to fully and generously carry out every obligation of our national honor whether expressed or implied."

The labor plank calls for fewer hours of labor and larger rewards for labor. The Chinese exclusion act is commended and the policy of the government in the Philippine is heartily endorsed. Control of the trusts is called for along the lines laid down by the Sherman law.

FLASHED LIGHT AT ELEPHANT

ANIMAL ENRAGED WRAPPED HIS TRUNK ABOUT MAN

WITH AWFUL FORCE THROWING HIM TO GROUND

BREAKING EVERY BONE IN BODY,

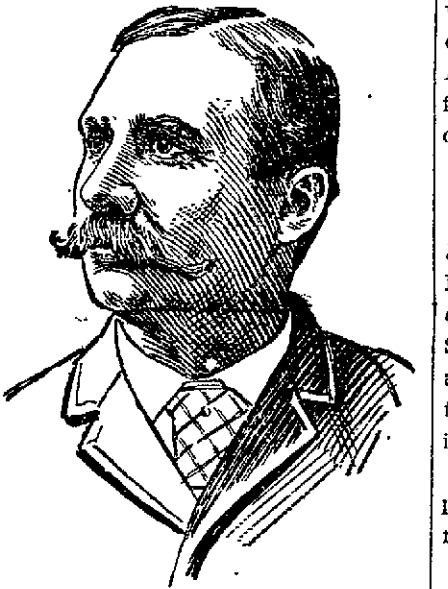

And Beating His Brains Out—Circus Elephant Became Enraged—J. F. Blount the Victim.

New York, May 28.—James Fielding Blount, 39 years old, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was killed at 5 o'clock this morning by one of the elephants in Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' circus, in Brooklyn. Blount had a small looking glass in his hand and was flashing it before an elephant named Topsy, known to be playful, but Topsy did not seem to relish the sport. Topsy threw her trunk around Blount, lifted him high in the air and with awful force slammed him to the earth several times, breaking every bone in his body and beating his brains out.

SORG IS DEAD

Ex-Congressman and Tobacco Manufacturer of Middletown Died Early Wednesday Morning.

Middletown, Ohio, May 28.—Hon. Paul J. Sorg, aged 62, died this morning.

HON. PAUL J. SORG, lying at 5:30 o'clock after an illness of almost three years of paresis. He was at one time a leading Democratic politician.

EDISON SAYS

ANOTHER ELECTRICAL PROBLEM IS SOLVED.

In High Spirits When He Spoke of His Practical Test of New Storage Battery.

Orange, N. J., May 28.—Thomas A. Edison declares that the problem of electrical transportation has been solved. He was in high spirits this morning and made public announcement of the first practical test of his new storage battery, which had proved highly successful. Last week a "unabated run by W. G. Bee and Mr. Beece, prominent automobilists, was equipped with a 21 cell battery and run over hilly roads around Orange for a distance of 62 miles under one charge.

Frost at Kenton.

Kenton, O., May 28.—A heavy frost Tuesday night caused thousands of dollars' damage to Hardin county crops. Corn and potatoes in all localities are badly bitten. The great onion fields on the marshes are utterly ruined, likewise all tender vegetables.

A Boiler Explodes.

Martinsville, Ind., May 28.—A boiler of a saw mill owned by John Wilcox at Mahalasville, blew up this morning, killing John Percifield, the engineer, and seriously injuring Ed Townsend, Harry Lowery and a boy named Lemons. The mill is a total wreck.

Electric railways are rapidly displacing the old-fashioned diligences in Switzerland.

RAIN

OF FIRE, STONE, MUD AND LAVA

ACCOMPANIED BY A FEARFUL ELECTRICAL DISPLAY.

MORNE ROUGE PEOPLE FLED.

Fifty Entered Cathedral and It Is Believed Perished—Correspondents Missing.

Fort de France, May 28.—Staff-correspondent H. H. Smith witnessed eruption of Mt. Pelee Monday, and after a walk of 40 miles to Ft. de France he tells an awful story of destruction. At Morne Rouge, two miles from Pelee, the eruption came without warning. There was a rain of fire, stones, mud, lava and an electrical display that was fearful. The people of the town fled. Fifty entered a cathedral and Smith believes all these perished. He escaped from Morne Rouge with some others with great difficulty.

Six days ago explorer George Kennan and Mr. Jaccasi who represent McClure's Magazine, started for the center. No word has been received from them, and it is feared that both may be dead.

FEW WHO REMAINED ESCAPED.

Fort de France, May 28.—The north end of Martinique is now deserted. The last eruption of Pelee created a panic and the inhabitants of Grand Riviere and Basse Pointe and the coast east of Pelee were brought here today. As a result of the eruption of Monday few who remained at Morne Rouge escaped.

H. H. SMITH.

PROF. HILL'S REPORT.

New York, May 28.—The Evening Journal prints a report from Prof. Robert T. Hill, the Government geologist, who, with Correspondent H. H. Smith of Scripps-McCrad Press Association, has made a trip of investigation to the vicinity of Mt. Pelee. His investigation shows:

That in the zone of the catastrophe there are about eight square miles;

That at the center of destruction all animal and vegetable life was snuffed out;

That within a wider zone of flame all animal life was destroyed, but not all vegetable life; and

That in a still larger zone of ashes some vegetation was unimpaired;

That the focus of annihilation was a low crater midway between the sea and the Peak of Mt. Pelee, which, with the old crater, is still active;

That the salient topography of the region is unchanged.

CONDITIONS ON MARTINIQUE.

Paris, May 28.—M. L'Heure, the acting governor of Martinique, has sent the following cable dispatch to the minister of colonies giving the latest account of the conditions there.

"Rains have prevented the projected exploration of the interior of the island. The volcano is still active, throwing heavy clouds of ashes out through several craters. The Tage reports that when she passed St. Pierre a new eruption was causing a rush of mud into the bed of the river Blanche."

BALLOON CUT

Santos Dumont the Aeronaut, Can Not Explain the Mystery—No Exhibition Can Be Given

London, May 28.—Santos Dumont found his balloon cut to pieces when he arrived from Paris yesterday to give exhibitions with his airship around Crystal Palace. The cutting was done with knives and large rings of silk covering were removed. The mystery is deepened by the fact that two of Santos Dumont's French assistants slept in and constantly watched the shed where the air ship was kept.

PAUNCEFOTE FUNERAL.

Washington, May 28.—The funeral of Lord Pauncefote held this morning at St. John's church was attended by all the high officials and diplomats and 1600 United States troops.

GOV. WOOD HAD HEAVY WINE BILLS

ATTEMPT TO BE MADE TO SHOW EXTRAVAGANCE.

MR. ROOT SAYS WOOD'S BILLS WERE APPROVED BY HIM.

PAID MONEY TO GENERAL GOMEZ

For Services—Wood Received Pay in Cuba of a Major General—Root Interviewed.

Washington, May 28.—An attempt will be made in the House to show that Governor General Wood was extravagant in Cuba with heavy wine bills and money paid to Gomez.

Secretary Root said today that all of General Wood's expenditures as governor of Cuba were made at the secretary's instance and are approved by him and that the secretary is solely responsible. He says he made General Wood allowances for entertainment, and instructed him to pay over to General Gomez sums of money for services and finally on authority of the President gave General Wood the pay of a major general.

The most serious charges are that General Wood instead of receiving a Brigadier General's salary of $505, really received $1312 per month; that wine bills for the governor's palace ran up to several hundred dollars monthly; that a number of American army officers, besides their salaries, drew money for additional services; that General Maximo Gomez received large sums, amounting to $1000 every few months, for services not specified; that accounts lack clearness and detail. These accounts as an incident of the transfer of authority in Cuba, will be examined by the new Cuban regime and reports will at some future time reach Washington from Havana officially. Secretary of War Root has the highest confidence in General Wood, and declares that no transactions of a questionable character have been brought to his attention.

TEAMSTERS

Outwitted by Packers this Morning, and Delivery of Meat Was Made in Chicago.

Chicago, May 28.—The striking packing house teamsters were outwitted this morning and through their lack of vigilance six wagon loads of dressed meat were delivered to down town supply houses, the first in two days. A great crowd followed the wagons which were manned by deputy superintendents, salesmen and clerks. Several strikers' sympathizers attempted to start a demonstration but a riot call was hurriedly sent in and the delivery was resumed under police protection. This is the first meat supply sent out in two days.

Will Not Strike.

Scranton, Pa., May 28.—The decision of the pumpers, firemen and engineers of this mining district not to strike on June 2, threatens to be unanimous. The miners here say it would be wiser to burn the breakers than to force out the pumpmen, for with the mines flooded the men could not get back to work for a year.

INJURED RECOVERING.

New York, May 28.—All of the two score wounded who were taken from the ruins of the wooden bridge at 18th street and Fifth avenue, after its collapse last evening, are reported on the road to recovery this morning. Most of those hurt were taken to the New York, Bellevue and St. Vincent hospitals.

Cabinet Crisis.

Madrid, May 28.—A crisis in the cabinet has occurred. At the meeting of the cabinet Senor Canalejas, the minister of agriculture, insisted upon the necessity of convening the chamber immediately to discuss the religious question. The other ministers opposed this proposal and Senor Canalejas resigned. After this action the remainder of the cabinet placed their portfolios at the disposal of Senor Sagasta, the premier, to enable him to solve the difficulty.

It was announced from Madrid May 17 that Senor Canalejas, who tendered his resignation as minister of agriculture May 12, had consented to retain his portfolio until after the accession to the throne of King Alfonso. It was then said that a serious political crisis was only postponed until after the festivities attending the majority of the king, which began May 17th.

IRENE AN DMA ENJOINED.

Chicago, May 28.—Mrs. John H. Driscoll is the latest convert to the doctrine that government by injunction is iniquitous.

Her husband is a traveling salesman and they have a daughter whose name is Irene. Mrs. Driscoll made up her mind to take Irene and flee to New York. Driscoll thought that Chicago would be better for both of them. He went down town, obtained an injunction from Judge Horton and it was served on his wife, so that she can't go to New York.

ROPE PUT AROUND HER BY THE MEN

AND SHE WAS BEING LET OFF THE BRIDGE

SCREAMS FOR HELP BROUGHT ASSISTANCE.

STRANGE WOMAN'S FAIRY TALES

Kept Over 250 Miners at Home and Indignant People Wanted to Know Source of Power.

Coal Creek, Tenn., May 28.—Yesterday Mrs. Emma Watson, who claimed that her home was in Andersonville appeared among the miners in the Coal Creek district, and for a small sum offered to tell the future of the families of the miners. She claimed that two explosions would occur in less than three months and that 300 miners would be killed. Over 250 miners at three mines were prevented by their families from going to work on account of the tales of the sorceress. The men found her at Driscollville and took her in tow, angrily swearing they would make her tell the origin of her power of prophecy. A rope was placed about her body and she was being let off the bridge at New Fraterville when she screamed for help. Constable Russell came to her relief and she was released on a promise to leave the place.

'EDITOR BRYAN DEAD.

London, O., May 27.—M. L. Bryan, 79, for 40 years editor of the Madison county Democrat, is dead. He was a native of Batavia, Clermont county. He first published the Circleville Herald in 1843. At Columbus he, with three other printers, started the Daily Reveille, for which Artemus Ward was a writer. Two of his sons are now conducting his paper.

Retire Hobson.

Washington, May 28.—The Senate Committee on naval affairs ordered a favorable report on the bill to transfer Naval Constructor R. P. Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, to the retired list at the same rate of pay which he would have received if he had been retired on account of his age.

K. OF P. GRAND LODGE.

Cincinnati, May 28.—The regular sessions of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias were opened in Columbia theatre today. The committee reports were taken up. Columbus, Canton and Zanesville were announced today as contestants to secure the Grand Lodge convention of 1903.

New York, May 28.—The last statement issued by the treasurer of the Martinique relief funds shows a total contribution of $135,136.52. Money continues to come in daily in small amounts, chiefly from towns and committees in the west and south. As soon as the flow stops finally, the treasurer will issue a statement showing the amounts received by the committees, towns and states.

GAS

STRUCK AT THE VILLAGE OF UTICA.

PEOPLE OVERJOYED AS WELL IS A GOOD ONE.

ANOTHER WELL ON HALL FARM.

Gas Has Also Been Struck at Luray, Near Hebron—Licking County Gas Booming.

Utica, O., May 28.—There is great joy in the hearts of all Utica people today over an immense strike of gas just outside of the town on the Robert Aisdorf place.

The flow is over two million feet a day and may reach a flow of three million. That means that Utica is "in" the Licking county gas belt and in spite of the fact that it is nothing more than was expected by the people, they are rejoicing over the certainty of the presence of gas beneath the surface here. More than twenty wells have been put down in the new Licking county gas field, but this is the first well very near Utica. The Utica Gas, Oil and Mining company was organized some time ago by local people who selected the Aisdorf place as the site for the first well and results show the wisdom of the selection. The gas first appeared at 3 p. m. yesterday at a depth of 2300 feet, but the work of drilling is not finished, as the drill is not yet through the sand.

News of the strike spread like wildfire and the excitement has not abated today. Nearly all the land about the town has been leased but gas men are busy today snapping up what land there is to be had. Gas will be piped to town for use in the houses of Utica and the town may offer it to induce manufacturing establishments to locate here. Mr. Aisdorf will banquet the directors of the company tonight.

Mt. Vernon, May 28.—The Mt. Vernon Natural Gas company drilled in another well Tuesday morning. The well is located on the Hall farm, between Homer and Utica and is said to be a very productive well. The capacity is one million and a half cubic feet per day.

Hebron, O., May 28.—Gas has been struck on the Thimmes farm near Luray the flow being estimated at 300,000 feet a day. The flow is not as large as hoped for but another well may be put down.

Portland, Ind., May 28.—May has been a record breaking month in the Indiana oil field, 264 wells having been completed, with a daily production of 4260 barrels. This is an increase of 32 wells and 715 barrels production over April. During the month 54 wells were abandoned. The increase in drilling wells and rigs up is 51. The sales of oil property during the month reached $500,000, most of it being re-invested in the same business.

CLARA TAYLOR

Anxious to Return to Cincinnati to Fight Parents of Her Darling Margaret.

Genoa, May 28.—It is probable that there will be no contest over the extradition of Clara Taylor, and that beyond a few legal formalities there will be little delay in returning her to Cincinnati.

Rev. Burrill English, the prison chaplain, visited Clara in her cell. He found her very melancholy but determined.

"I want to be extradited," said said. "There need be no delay so far as I am concerned. My one desire is to return to Cincinnati, there to fight the parents of my darling Margaret. I can not get there too soon."

To Go To Pittsburgh.

Mr. Dan Felix will leave for Pittsburgh on June 6th, where he has a responsible and lucrative position. Mr. Felix has for some time been employed by the Weiant bakery, and his Newark friends while sorry that he is to leave Newark, wish him the success which his merits deserve.

CIRCUIT COURT

Convention of the Democracy of the Fifth Judicial District in Newark
June 17.

Delegates from the several counties included in the Fifth Circuit Judicial District of Ohio will meet at Newark, Ohio, on Tuesday, 17th of June, A. D. 1902, at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for the office of judge of the said judicial district.

The basis of representation at the said convention will be one delegate for each five hundred (500) votes or fraction thereof in excess of two hundred and fifty (250) cast for the Hon. Maurice H. Donahue for judge of the said district at the election in 1900. According to this basis of representation the several counties in said district will be entitled to the following number of delegates:

A Good Memory.

When Theodore Roosevelt was governor of New York, he was a great friend of the porters and employees of the New York Central. One morning he took the 9:15 train from Albany west, and as he entered the car he said to Adams, the colored porter: "Hello, Porter! You here still?"
"Yes, sir," replied the porter, "and I'm going to stay here till you get to be president, and then I want you to give me a job."

"I'll go you!" promptly replied the governor, and, sure enough, when Governor Roosevelt became president of the United States he surprised Adams by sending for him to go to work in Washington.—Schoolmaster.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Dick and the Sparrow.
The lady of the house was standing in the vestibule, casting an anxious eye down the street.
"Are there no boys in sight?" asked a voice from within.
"Yes, plenty of boys on the street, but you know how particular I am about Pet. I should like to be sure that the boy who rides her will not be rough with her."

Just then a sturdy young fellow of ten came whizzing by on a bicycle. It was not his own, but one that its owner was generous enough to lend to the boys who had none, and he was taking his turn while the other boys lay on the grass and played jackstones, wishing he were alone. "My, if I only had a wheel for my trip to the farm!"

Just then he suddenly straightened himself up.

"Ting-a-ling-ling!" rang out the bell of the bicycle sharply, and as he slowed up the other boys half rose and looked wonderingly. They could see nothing to ring for.

"What was it, Dick?" they inquired.
"Oh, nothing but a sparrow. I was afraid I would run over it. The little thing stood so still right in front of the wheel!"

"Ho, ho! Rings his bell for a sparrow?" sneered the other boys as Dick dismounted.

"Ma'mma's itty, witty baby?"
"I don't care how much you make fun of me," he replied good naturedly, yet not without a red flush on his brow.

"I guess I wouldn't run over a sparrow, even, when I could help it by ringing or stopping."

"Come here, please, Dick!" called a voice from the doorstep of one of the handsomest houses on the avenue.

"You are the very boy I want to drive a pony to the country and back. It is out the Darlington boulevard. Would you like to go?"

"Why, yes, ma'am," quickly answered Dick. "I have an errand out there and was just dreading the walk."

"Then I am glad you may ride. I was wondering whether I could trust one of those boys to be kind to Pet when I overheard about the sparrow. That made me willing to trust you."—Junior Christian Endeavor World.

Loyal Young Citizens.

Some years ago nearly a thousand children of Montclair, N. J., signed the following promise:

"We, the undersigned, agree to work together to make Montclair a happier place in which to live by trying to remove everything which would make it less healthful or less beautiful and by adding anything we can which makes it more healthful or more beautiful."

These young people were divided into twenty-four societies, each meeting once a month. At these meetings reports were given as to what the members were doing and suggestions of new plans made. Essays were written upon the importance of cleaning the streets, bird life and other similar topics, for the best of which prizes were offered. The result was that the streets were free from waste paper and other loose objects. Flower beds were laid out on the school grounds and vines planted against the buildings. In an Ohio city a society of boys and girls agreed not to throw paper or other refuse on the streets, and each boy agreed to keep the sidewalk in front of his own door clean.

This sort of work is open to the boys of every town in America.

A Query.

When Kate is out. I sometimes lay
The tray for dear mamma,
And she will say, "My little girl,
A help indeed you are."

One night I thought that I would try,
Before I went to bed,
To lay the tray for Katie, too,
And she came in and said:

"You naughty child, what have you done?
This clean, fresh cloth! Just see!
Run quick, I say, up stairs to nurse
And do not bother me!"

I wish some little girl could tell,
For I'm sure I don't know,
How I can bother Kate so much
When I help mamma so.

A Generous Invitation.

Three-year-old Edward, whose father has a henry, called to a playmate who was passing with a milk can in her hand:

"Has the cow been laying some milk for you?" Then he shouted:
"Come over and play with me."
"I can't," replied the little girl; "I'm going home."
"Come over after you get froo going home," said Edward.

The Speed of Fishes.

It is interesting to note the speed of fishes. Porpoises have been seen to dart round and round a steamer traveling seventeen miles an hour. Herrings in schools move steadily at a rate of between ten and twelve miles. Mackereel are much swifter, and both trout and salmon go at a rapid pace up stream. Whales swim at a rate of sixteen miles an hour when excited.

A JUNE BUGOLOGIST.

Each supervisor being first duly sworn or affirmed by some officer authorized to administer oaths, and he is a legal voter of the township, that he will faithfully and correctly conduct said election, protect it against all frauds and unfairness, carefully and truly canvass all votes cast thereat, shall then cause the electors present, possessing the qualifications above set forth, to choose two judges of elections and two clerks to assist him in receiving and taking account of the votes cast, to each of whom shall be administered by some officer authorized to administer oaths, the same oath taken by said supervisor.

The judges and clerks shall then proceed as in general elections to conduct said election under the provisions of this call and said law, and to entertain and determine objections to any elector. The supervisors and judges at the close of the polls shall count the votes and declare the result and said supervisor shall return a poll book and tally sheet, duly certified and sealed up securely in an envelope, to the Chairman of the Central Committee on Monday, June 9, 1902, not later than 11:30 o'clock, a. m., and said Chairman and said supervisors shall meet at said time in the Convention Room of the Court House in the City of Newark. The Chairman shall then with the assistance of said supervisors proceed to open said returns, count the votes cast at said Primary Election, and declare the result. The candidates for the several offices so found to have received the highest number of votes shall be declared the nominees for the Democratic party.

In case any supervisor hereby appointed is not present to open the polls, any Democratic elector of the township may be chosen to act by the electors present, and after being duly qualified as herein stated, shall proceed to conduct said election as herein provided.

Each supervisor being first duly sworn or affirmed by some officer authorized to administer oaths, and he is a legal voter of the township, that he will faithfully and correctly conduct said election, protect it against all frauds and unfairness, carefully and truly canvass all votes cast thereat, shall then cause the electors present, possessing the qualifications above set forth, to choose two judges of elections and two clerks to assist him in receiving and taking account of the votes cast, to each of whom shall be administered by some officer authorized to administer oaths, the same oath taken by said supervisor.

The judges and clerks shall then

proceed as in general elections to conduct said election under the provisions of this call and said law, and to entertain and determine objections to any elector. The supervisors and judges at the close of the polls shall count the votes and declare the result and said supervisor shall return a poll book and tally sheet, duly certified and sealed up securely in an envelope, to the Chairman of the Central Committee on Monday, June 9, 1902, not later than 11:30 o'clock, a. m., and said Chairman and said supervisors shall meet at said time in the Convention Room of the Court House in the City of Newark. The Chairman shall then with the assistance of said supervisors proceed to open said returns, count the votes cast at said Primary Election, and declare the result. The candidates for the several offices so found to have received the highest number of votes shall be declared the nominees for the Democratic party.

The Supervisors to conduct said Primary Election were chosen at said convention as follows:

PRESBYTERIAN CREED.

Its Revision as Explained by Rev. Dr. Henry C. Minton.

This is the creed revision adopted by the Presbyterian general assembly, as summarized and explained by the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Minton, chairman of the revision committee, says the New York World:

"The committee was asked to pass upon points which can be broadly divided into 'unargued statements in the Confession' or 'unwarranted inferences drawn from parts of the Confession' not easily understood. These points are predestination, elect infants, good works of unregenerate men and the pope.

"We have the opportunity now to disclaim damaging inferences with which the church has been persistently, though maliciously, charged. Our critics have rolled it as a sweet morsel under their tongues that Presbyterians believe in infant damnation. We deny this unwarranted inference by a negative disclaimer and a positive statement that we do not believe that any infants are damned, and we do believe that all infants are regenerated.

"We have been charged with fatalism. In the declaratory statement we say that 'no man is condemned except on the ground of his sin.'

"The Confession says the good works of unregenerate men are sinful and displeasing to God. This was the most difficult problem for the committee to consider. We believed it was the truth, but stated unguardedly. We are taught that, though it is sinful to do them, it is more sinful not to. The committee has revised this subject by a doctrinal statement.

"What may be termed incidental excrecences on our creed have been removed or remedied. I have no fear that the Westminster Confession will crumble to pieces because we omit that little historic reference to the oath or because we politely bow the pope out of it.

"There are those who hesitate to enter on the road where they fear this revision will lead. This is as far as it will go. If there are those who will go farther, I give notice that I part company with them right here."

SOUFFRIERE'S TWO CRATERS

A Drunken Sailor Once Crossed the Narrow Dividing Line.

The summit of Mount Souffriere, St. Vincent, 3,500 feet above sea level, which has just devastated the island, is divided into two craters, says the Washington Post. The first is three miles in circumference and 500 feet deep and is separated from what is known as the "new crater" by a very thin and narrow wall or ridge of granitic lava. The "new crater" covers about three acres.

An English sailor once crossed this dike of granite, which is barely wide enough for a cat to crawl over, but no other person ever attempted the feat either before or since. The funny part of the matter is that the sailor was about half intoxicated at the time and crossed the dividing wall for a wager of one dozen bottles of port wine that one of the officers offered to the person who performed the feat.

Cuba Libre.

On the beautiful isle where the tyrants long ruled,
Where so long right was crushed by the wrong,
There is joy in the hearts of its daughters and sons,
And they swell a great thanksgiving song,
For at last they are free and the island is theirs.
Theirs to govern, to serve and defend;
They have formed a new nation and raised a new flag
And upon their own strength now depend.

There at last is fulfillment of freedom's bright hope,
By which valorous sires were sustained
As they suffered and fought through the long years of war.
And rejoiced over each triumph gained,
For a nation has risen from wrecks of the homes
Where wide ruin by tyrants was spread,
And it rests on foundations of courage and faith
And the blood that the patriots shed.

Down in honor is hauled the grand flag of the free
Which to Cuba brought freedom and peace
And which long has been waving as emblem of right
And of friendship that never shall cease.
But forget not, fair Cuba, the

Your Vacation in Colorado? Why Not?

We are going to sell tickets at less than half fare this summer so as to enable people of moderate means to spend their vacations in glorious Colorado.

It is by no means a country of high prices. Our handbook tells all about the hotels, boarding-houses and ranches, their prices, names and addresses of the proprietors, attractions within reach, rates for livery, the fishing and hunting, charges for guides, etc. Ask for a copy. No charge. And with the book we will enclose a circular telling about the railroad ticket rates and trains. It takes only one night on the road to go from Chicago to Colorado. There is no place in the world like Colorado for beauty of mountain scenery and perfection of climate—it is ideal. I have never known anyone to return from Colorado disappointed. Where could you find a more delightful place to spend your vacation?

WALTER CLARK

WANTED HERE—WAS ARRESTED IN ZANESVILLE.

Arrest on Information Given by Prosecutor Fitzgibbon—The Craig Case is Recalled.

Walter Clark, colored, who is supposed to be a badly wanted man in Newark, was arrested in Zanesville, Monday evening by Lieutenant Pettit. He was taken to Newark Tuesday afternoon by Chief Tracy. It is understood that Clark figured in a "large row" in a colored saloon at Newark recently and that during the melee he was shot. The man who did the shooting was arrested but shortly afterward Clark disappeared from the city and he being the prosecuting witness the prosecution in the case was handicapped by his absence. It is thought that the friends of the man who did the shooting persuaded Clark to leave the city in order that the former might escape the law.—Zanesville Signal.

Clark was arrested by the Zanesville officers on information furnished by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fitzgibbon, the warrant charging him with secreting himself for the purpose of avoiding service of legal process upon him.

The case of U. G. Craig who was indicted for shooting Clark was called in Common Pleas court on the 15th of the present month. Several days before this precept were issued for witnesses on behalf of the State, the principal one being Clark, whom the Sheriff could not find, until he was located in Zanesville. He is now in the county jail and will have a hearing before Squire A. J. Crilly next Saturday.

It was suspected that Clark had been paid not to appear against Craig, and information enough was gained by Prosecutor Fitzgibbon to cause him to have Craig arrested for bribery which was done this morning. Craig's hearing was set for next Thursday morning on this charge before Squire Crilly.

SUDDEN

AND SHOCKING DEATH OF MISS MARGERY KING.

While on Way to Decorate Her Parents' Graves at Cedar Hill She Became Ill and Died.

A very sad death which was startling in its suddenness, was that of Miss Margery King, a highly respected woman of Newark township at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Miss King has been in the best of health and was this morning when she started from her home, northwest of Newark, in company with her brother, H. B. King, with whom she lived, to go to Cedar Hill cemetery to place wreaths of loving remembrance upon the graves of father and mother.

When on Taird street near Dr. J. A. Mitchell's office, driving to the cemetery, Miss King was suddenly taken ill, and she was immediately driven to Dr. Mitchell's office and taken out of the buggy, dying in the office in a few minutes, her death being due to apoplexy.

The remains were taken to the home of her brother, H. B. King in Bowers & Bradley's ambulance, and prepared for burial, but the funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

The deceased was also a sister of Mr. M. S. King the well known dairy man.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Good Seed For the Farm. One of the most important things to consider in the production of satisfactory crops on the farm is the obtaining of suitable seeds and of the best varieties for the purpose, says a writer in the American Cultivator.

If all other things are properly attended to and this neglected, inferior results may be expected.

First, seeds should be adapted to the locality, climate and soil. All kinds of crops will not flourish alike under all conditions or in all parts of the United States. It is always safest to grow those kinds that are adapted to any particular location, as they will usually give the best results.

It will do to obtain seeds from a more northern or colder climate, but it is hardly safe to take them north from the south, as they will not be so likely to mature a crop owing to a difference in season and climate.

Seeds in any locality may be greatly improved by careful selection and propagation. Particularly is this the case with corn. A good variety can be well kept up in its original characteristics and even improved in some respects, as earliness, uniformity, productiveness, etc., by this careful attention to selection from year to year. Valuable varieties are often obtained in this way, entitling them to the designation of pedigree or thoroughbred.

Peach Crop Improved by Thinning.

With the favorable reports that have come from most peach belts indications point to a fairly good peach crop this season. The product can be greatly improved in quality by judicious thinning. Many growers have been backward about adopting this method, but most experienced up to date fruit growers practice thinning regularly. No orchard work pays better. The quality of the fruit is much improved and brings top prices on the market. The time for thinning depends somewhat upon the variety and locality. Most growers thin when the fruit is about half an inch in diameter. It is usually done in June or July in the more northern belt, but in the south it is practiced quite regularly much earlier.

The distance between peaches left on the branches varies from three to ten inches on well matured trees. Smaller trees from two to three years of age fruiting for the first time are frequently thinned quite severely to promote more rapid growth and greater wood development. What is commonly known as the June drop must be taken into consideration, and thinning must not be too severe before this period. This is due largely to the attacks of the curculio.—American Agriculturist.

Fertility Increased by Dairy.

Dairying improves the farm; wheat growing depletes it. If only the farmer can be induced to keep a few cows, it will pay. Let him call it a pasture at first. It will not be long before he will see it is a good business. "The change from wheat to butter farming," says Hoard's Dairyman, "has produced a wonderful increase in fertility, so that today splendid crops of grain, corn and grass are grown. For every ton of wheat the farmer sold they took out of the soil $7 worth of fertilizer. For every ton of butter sold only 50 cents' worth of fertility is disposed of. Such a change effect on soil of two methods of farming must in the very nature of things show for itself."

Children and the Poisonous Plants.

Four Ohio boys recently ate wild parsnip, thinking it to be sweet anise. One died and the others are in a critical condition. Every country child should know the comparatively few poisonous plants growing in his vicinity. Boys especially have a disposition to investigate and taste all sorts of plants and fruits. A little care on the part of parents will often prevent the making of such fatal mistakes. Instruction in these matters in country schools would not be out of place. Specimens obtained from a summer Saturday in the field or woods would furnish pupils an interesting and valuable object lesson.—Rural New Yorker.

Tobacco Growers Pleased.

Tobacco growers are happy over the prospect of a vigorous competition with the American Tobacco company. The American company went to England to compete with the Imperial company, or, in fact, to try to monopolize the tobacco trade in England, as it has almost done in this country. Now the Imperial company returns the compliment and comes over here to build factories and put buyers on the market in competition with the trust. Two large factories are to be built by the Englishmen in North Carolina and one in Virginia. The competition will benefit the growers of the tobacco crop.—Practical Farmer.

Tapeworm in Sheep.

It is said that the tapeworm is afflicting sheep very extensively on the range this spring. The presence of this parasite may be known by the victims becoming poor, hidebound and frequently pot bellied. They have a dry, harsh fleece, a tottering gait, eat and drink more than normal amounts, but fail to digest the food, and frequently diarrhea sets in, and they finally die from starvation and exhaustion.

Tomatoes on Fences.

A good plan is to plant the tomato vines along the garden fence if you are unfortunate enough to have one. The extra heat along the fence will hasten the tomatoes to ripen, while the fence can be made to act as a support for the plants. Use a three-quarter inch wire staple to fasten them with, giving it a single tap with a hammer. An unsightly fence will be covered in this way and waste ground utilized.

NEWARK MAN

WHO IS MAYOR OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS, ILL.

J. W. Thomas, Self Made Man, Whose Mother, Sisters and Brothers Live Here.

Mr. Frank Jennings of this city has received a copy of the Chicago Heights Signal, published by Palmer & Palmer, of Chicago Heights Ill. The paper contains interesting biographical sketches of the first Mayor and the city officials of Chicago Heights. The Mayor of this rapidly growing city is J. W. Thomas, a former Newark boy, who is one of the leading men of that city. Mr. Thomas will be remembered by his old time friends here as "Jack" Thomas, who was a puddler in the old rolling mill here, and who was a fine tenor singer. In speaking of him the paper says:

John W. Thomas, mayor of Chicago Heights is a self made man in every sense of the term. He came to this city in 1893, when in company with other gentlemen, he engaged in the manufacture of steel. He is the superintendent of the Inland Steel company, an institution which has been eminently successful since its foundation, and largely owing to the keen knowledge of Mr. Thomas, who is conceded to be one of the best steel men in the country. There is not a single detail of the business that he does not thoroughly understand. He is a close student of his business, being constantly on the alert to better the condition of his plant, and ever striving to introduce the most modern appliances. He is a hard, earnest worker, never allowing any undertaking to feaze him, and to see him about his mill, in his "regimentals," one unacquainted with the facts would pick him out for a common laborer instead of the high salaried officer he is.

Mr. Thomas is the owner of the largest business block in the city, besides other smaller business properties and valuable vacant holdings. He is also the owner of several houses and lots which he rents, desirable vacant residence property, besides the splendid home site which he occupies. When the First National bank was established in July last he was induced to take a large block of stock in the institution, and such is his keen knowledge on financial propositions and his foresight, he was chosen vice president.

But the steel mill business is the one on which Mr. Thomas prides himself most. He is a large stockholder in the Inland company, also in the Buffalo mill, and the new mill at Indiana Harbor, and a director in each, all owned and controlled by the same company, and all very successful enterprises.

Joan W. Thomas was born in Niles, O., in 1856. He attended the common schools of his home town until he was 14 years of age, when he started out in the world with nothing but a level head, pluck and determination to fight the battle of life. He determined upon the iron and steel business as his line, and entered the mills at Niles. After completing his trade he went to Youngstown, later to Pittsburg, and to Cleveland, and still later to Newark, being employed in the mills there for a considerable time. Mr. Thomas' mother, two sisters and a brother reside at that place at the present time. A few years later he came west, obtaining employment in the Chicago steel mills of Chicago. He at first worked as a roller, but his thorough knowledge of the business soon presented itself and in a short space of time he had climbed the ladder of success to the top and was made superintendent.

In 1892 the Chicago Steel company went out of business, and Mr. Thomas in casting about for a field, came to Chicago Heights, where he was instrumental in forming the Inland Steel company with the results as stated above.

Mr. Thomas is serving his second term as mayor of Chicago Heights having formerly served as a member of the school board with credit. Naturally, being so largely interested in Chicago Heights, he takes a great interest in its welfare, both present and future, and he does nothing that he does not believe to be for the city's advantage.

In 1881 Mr. Thomas was united in marriage with Mary H. Hughes. Five children have blessed the union, four of whom are living—Charles, John, Irene and Russell. Arthur, their first child died at the age of five years.

ANIMAL IMITATIVENESS.

How a Beggar's Dog Grows to Be Like His Master.

"One of the most curious traits to be found in the animal nature," said an observant citizen, "is that which grows out of the unconscious imitativeness of creatures of the lower order. I have observed many instances of where the creatures, of a lower order have taken on the characteristics in some noticeable degree of members of the human family. One might know, for instance, the beggar's dog from the look of the dog, from the droop of the eye, the pathetic hang of the lip and a certain general air of despondency and hopelessness which seems to speak in the very nature of the animal. I mention the beggar's dog because it is a familiar example. The beggar's dog never looks cheerful, never smiles, never frolics, but simply sits by his master and broods and begs for whatever charity may give."

"I have seen the dog character molded under happier influences, and the dog became more cheerful. He was a light hearted, free and easy sort of creature and seemed to get something of the sunnier side of things. I am almost tempted to say that if you will show me a man's dog I will tell you what manner of man the owner is, with particular reference to temperament and his moods. The melancholy man, the man who grovels mentally along the gloomier groves, the pessimistic man who is always looking at the dark side of the picture, all the men who come within these unhappy classifications rarely own a cheerful dog. The dog unconsciously takes to the ways of the master and in his moods imitates the master's way of thinking. "But turn to the dog of the jolly, cheerful fellow. Watch him show his teeth in laughter when the master approaches. He is darting across the yard and dancing and frisking around the master's feet in the happiest way imaginable, and he is up to all kinds of pranks and does all kinds of little things to indicate the good nature that is in him. He does as his master does and seems to take the same general view of life. These are small things, I guess, but they show just how important one's way of thinking may influence one's dog and change his whole view of life."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Nell—"Why doesn't she try to improve her mind?" Belle—"I suppose she's too busy trying to improve her complexion."

"I am almost afraid to show you my play," giggled the authoress. "It is so terribly naughty." "Well, the naughty play isn't generally the one that comes to naught," remarked the astute manager. "Let's see it."

THE HUMBERT MILLIONS

Pair of French Swindlers Borrow $10,000,000.

HOW THE SCHEME WAS CONCEIVED

Will of a Mythical American Millionaire. Imaginary Nephews and French Court Suits Established Credit on Which Parisian Bankers of Highest Repute Advanced Vast Sums.

Public opinion is intensely agitated over what probably, without exaggeration, is described as the most remarkable case of swindling recorded in France for over a century, says a dispatch from Paris to the New York Tribune. This daring speculation on human credulity is known as "the Humbert millions."

A phantom inheritance of over $20,000,000, the only tangible evidence of which is the fictitious will of an imaginary American millionaire named Robert Henry Crawford, has been manipulated with daring and consummate skill and made the subject of such intricate litigation that the self styled legatees, M. and Mme. Frederic Humbert, have during the last twenty years succeeded in obtaining from leading bankers and financial institutions of Paris, including the Bank of France itself, the Credit Foncier and the Compagnie Generale, loans amounting to more than $10,000,000 in cash, and this upon the sole security of a zealously guarded but empty safe.

The method of procedure of this queen of swindlers was almost Napoleonic in conception and execution and may be briefly summarized. Twenty-five years ago there died at Nice a Mr. Henry Robert Crawford, who left to Therese d'Aurignac his entire fortune. She had nursed the kind hearted American devotedly during a long illness, which had been brought on by cuts in the head and erysipelas. Meanwhile Mlle. Therese d'Aurignac had married M. Frederic Humbert. But just as Mme. Humbert was about to enter into possession of her enormous windfall two Americans, Henry and Robert Crawford, produced a will written and signed by the late Henry Robert Crawford, drawn up, like the former one, at Nice and of the same date. By this will the testator bequeathed to his two nephews, Henry and Robert Crawford, and to Mme. Humbert's younger sister, Mlle. Marie d'Aurignac, the whole of his fortune, on condition of their paying to Mme. Humbert an annuity of $72,000.

Thereupon the rival claimants brought the case before the courts. The law's delay dragged the affair through multiple phases. The case seemed destined never to end. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent in counsel fees and legal expenses. Those who are "wise after the event" now point out that amid this wilderness of litigation the mysterious Crawford brothers never appeared in person, but only by attorney. It is also noted that in the suits brought by Mme. Humbert the existence of the Crawford brothers was never disputed; consequently the dry, formal verbiage of the judgments of the tribunals, invariably accepted as gospel truth by all Frenchmen, could be adduced as irrefutable evidence of the existence not only of the vast fortune in question, but also of the invisible Crawford brothers, who, as a matter of fact, like the famous $20,000,000, were purely imaginary.

Another mysterious feature was that Mme. Frederic Humbert declared that she had in her safe money and securities amounting to over $20,000,000 and that this sum had been entrusted to her for safe keeping by the other parties, and that consequently she had in reality nothing whatever available for cash payments because, according to an agreement, duly attested and exhibited, between her and the phantom Crawford brothers, she would lose all rights if she were to touch the contents of the safe. Nevertheless, on the security of this phantom sum of $20,000,000—supposed to have been in her safe—and aided by her extreme plausibility and by the prestige of her social position and by her being the wife of an ex-deputy and daughter-in-law of an ex-minister of justice, Mme. Humbert founded a life insurance company, La Societe la Rente Viagere, "boomed" and "pushed" by the Catholic organ La Croix and by the rural Catholic clergy, and also succeeded in borrowing vast sums of money from financial firms and bankers of the highest repute.

They seemed to prosper until recently, when a small but persistent creditor, M. Morel, the amount of whose claim was only $26,000, sued for payment, and at last M. Ditté, president of the Seine civil tribunal, ordered that the safe in the Humbert residence, supposed to hold the $20,000,000, be opened. At 7:30 o'clock in the evening locksmiths, after three hours' hard work, succeeded in opening the safe, which was found to contain a red leather jewel case, in which was a large diamond brooch, which upon inspection proved to be false and worth perhaps $2. There were some extinct gold mine shares and a few newspapers. Of the famous $20,000,000 there was no trace.

Eager crowds gathered in front of the life insurance company in the Rue Auber, and one old man, who had handed over his entire fortune to the Humberts for a life annuity, fell senseless on the pavement when he heard of the collapse of the establishment. Warrants for the arrest of the Humberts were at once issued, and several lawyers and notaries at Paris, Rouen, Havre, Nantes and elsewhere, charged with complicity, have been taken into custody.

ROSES FROM ASHES

[Original.]

When Millard Prescott after a year's happy marriage lost his wife, he fell into a morbid condition which grew upon him as he gave way to it. He had the body cremated and the ashes placed in an urn. One of the rooms in his house he fitted up as a memorial chamber, decorated its walls with pictures of his lost wife at different ages from babyhood to womanhood, loaded its tables with things she used to have about her, and on the mantel, which resembled an altar, deposited the mortuary urn.

Mrs. Jane Pitman, an aunt of Millard, hearing of his sad condition, made him a visit with the intention of bringing him back to a healthy mental state. She took with her Rose Thornton, a veritable child of nature. There was in Rose neither reverence nor fear. She was pretty and pliant and withal absolutely innocent. On the afternoon of her arrival Millard, on returning from business, entered the chamber of death, as was his custom, and found there little Rose examining its contents as if she were "doing" a museum.

"Oh, Mr. Prescott," she exclaimed—"you are Mr. Prescott, aren't you?"—forgive me for entering your mausoleum. It's just too lovely for anything. Your devotion is so beautiful. How many portraits! One, two, three, four." She counted eleven. "One more would make it an even dozen. And the urn! Did you ever see such a delicate, slender shape? I suppose it's for flowers."

Millard looked at the girl in wonder. Was this an intentional profanation? She met his gaze with a pair of blue eyes so guileless that he was sure she did not realize how inappropriate was her chatter. Furthermore, in that upturned face there was a look of heartfelt sympathy.

In cases where the mind is inflicting its own torture the load is often lifted instantaneously. It was as if Millard had been living in a dungeon and some one had suddenly struck a light. Unbending, he led the girl about the room, telling her something of each of his treasures, then went with her to the library, where before an inviting fire he enjoyed a restful talk.

The next afternoon when Millard returned to his home and entered his mausoleum his mind, instead of being occupied with his grief, reverted to the bewitching girl whom he had found there the day before. Cutting short his stay, he went into the library and, not finding her, sent a servant up stairs to ask if she would like to play a game of pingpong before dinner. Rose came down two steps at a time.

"Why, Mr. Prescott!" she exclaimed. "I supposed you always spent this hour in the chamber of grief. I've been in there a great deal today. It is so peaceful."

With this lively bit of humanity before him it suddenly occurred to Millard that the room was very gloomy. "Shall we have a game?" he asked. "Pingpong? Certainly. I love pingpong."

Half an hour later Mrs. Pitman came in and heard the ping pong of the little ball beating on the dining table and against the racquets, accompanied by bursts of laughter. When her nephew saw her, it suddenly occurred to him that he had changed.

For several days little was seen of the widower by the other members of the family. Ashamed of having been led away from his grief by a child of a girl, he had resumed his former habits, but his attempt to concentrate his mind on the past was interfered with by the bright face that continuously thrust itself before him. He heard snatches of song without and now and again when Rose had a visitor the ping pong of the ball in the dining room.

One day when he returned from his office and went into the apartment which some mocking spirit now put it into his head to call the chamber of horrors he saw something that filled him with astonishment. The top of the mortuary urn had been removed, and from the urn itself stood out on long stems three American Beauty roses. He was standing wonder stricken, gazing at the transposition, when he heard a movement behind him, and, turning, there was Rose Thornton peeping through a crack in the door.

"It's only I," she said. "What's the good of making people happy if you don't see their happiness?"

"Did you put the roses there?" he asked.

"Indeed I did."

"What—what did you do with—the contents?"

"I didn't know there were any contents till I spilled them on the floor. Then I swept them into a dust pan and threw them out the window."

By this time she had come into the room and was looking up at him with a pained expression.

"One would think I had broken your heart," she said ruefully.

He stood looking at the roses springing from the urn which had contained a handful of cold ashes. He was soothed by their perfume, and his heart was warmed by their glowing hues. From them he turned his eyes upon his favorite picture of the dead. The face which had always looked sadly at him now wore a smile, and these are the words he fancied he heard spoken: "I am not dust. I am an immortal spirit. The roses are a fitter emblem. I have sent this innocent life to take away your burden."

He turned to the girl and for the first time saw the pain she suffered that in trying to do a kindness she had caused him to suffer. As he would have pressed the roses to his lips he more readily to inhale their perfume, he bent down and kissed the sorrowful face. OCTAVIA SPARKMAN.

FLOWERS

ARE WANTED AT MEMORIAL HALL TOMORROW.

Four Hundred and Fifty Graves to be Decorated Friday—Further Arrangements Made.

There are about 450 graves of soldiers of the various wars to be decorated. Thirty-two of these are in Mt. Calvary cemetery. All soldiers' graves will be flagged and decorated in common.

Cedar Hill being so large and containing so many graves of soldiers it has this year been divided, for decoration purposes into seven divisions instead of four as formerly.

There will be one company of decorators for each division.

Each captain will be furnished with a map of the cemetery showing the boundaries of the several divisions, each being numbered to correspond to the number of his company.

So far as possible each company will be composed of members from each military and patriotic organization of the city including the associate members of Lemert Post.

The following are the officers of the decorating companies.

F. G. Steele, Captain in charge.

Captain James H. Smith, flowers.

Captain John Hiser, Mt. Calvary.

Captain George W. Chase, Co. A, Division A. Lieutenants, S. Beadle, W. A. Lovett.

Captain M. O. Nash, Co. B, Division B. Lieutenants W. A. Bell, Frank Link.

Captain Charles Adams, Co. C, Division C. Lieutenants, E. E. Blizard, H. B. Coulter.

Captain R. W. Bone Co. D, Division D. Lieutenants, Charles E. Matthews, F. C. King.

Captain R. M. Davidson, Co. E, Division E. Lieutenants, Melville Giddett, John Mohlenpach.

Captain George C. Crawford, Co. F, Division F. Lieutenants, J. R. Ashbrook, F. D. Farmer.

Captain L. H. Insko, Co. G, Division G. Lieutenants, George Henry, H. P. Courtier.

Strange Find Of a Ring.

(New York Sun.)

Ward W. Muchmore of 314 Seventh avenue, Newark, N. J., was digging around the roots of a honeysuckle vine one day last week and found a diamond ring which was lost by his wife six years ago. A root of the honeysuckle had grown through the ring and nearly filled it.

LARIMORE-HAWKINS FAMILIES.

The annual reunion of the Larimore-Hawkins families will be held at the home of Mr. James Bryan, near Lock, on Wednesday, June 4. This is one of the largest family reunions held in the county, and is always attended by hundreds of people. Efforts are being made to make this one of the most successful gatherings ever held by these families. As usual there will be speaking, music, games of all kinds, and a general good time.

FOOLED HIS SUPERIOR.

An Astonished Pasha and a Lieutenant Who Won Promotion.

Kassim Pasha when minister of war for Egypt was very particular in regard to the personal appearance of his officers and issued stringent orders that they should never appear unshaven in public. One day he met upon the street a lieutenant who had bearded the pasha and disregarded his orders. "To what regiment do you belong?" demanded the indignant minister. "To the 102nd, at Abis senh," replied the frightened lieutenant. "Get into my carriage at once so that I can carry you to the encampment and have you publicly punished," was the stern command which followed.

The young man obeyed, and the train rode along gloomily enough for some time, when the pasha stopped his carriage and entered an office where he would be detained for some time on business. Seizing the opportunity, the culprit sprang from the vehicle, darted into a neighboring barber's stall and regained his post before the return of his jailer minus his beard. For the remainder of the route the officer buried his face in his hands and seemed the picture of apprehension.

Abassseh was reached at last, and all the officers were assembled to witness the degradation of their comrade, who all the while kept well in the rear of his chief. "Come forward, you son of a dog!" cried the irate pasha, when there stepped before him an officer with a face as clean as a baby's and a look of the most supreme innocence. His excellency gave one look of blank astonishment and then, with an appreciative smile breaking over his worn features, turned to the assembled officers and said, "Here, gentlemen, your old minister is a fool, and your young lieutenant is a captain."

SUMMER COLDS

Produce Chronic Catarrh.

Mrs. Henriette C. Olberg, Albert Lea, Minn.

Mrs. Henriette C. Olberg, superintendent of the Omaha Exhibition at the Omaha Exhibition, writes from Albert Lea, Minn., as follows:

"This spring I contracted an aggravating cold, having been exposed to the damp weather. Catarrh of my throat and head followed, which persisted in remaining, notwithstanding I applied the usual remedies."

"Reading of the merits of Peruna in the papers, I decided to try it and soon found that all that has been said of your medicine in such cases is true."

"I am very pleased with the satisfactory results obtained from using Peruna, am entirely well, and consider it a most valuable family medicine."

HENRIETTE C. OLBORG.

Summer colds require prompt treatment. They are always grave, and sometimes dangerous. The promptness and surety with which Peruna acts in these cases has saved many lives.

A large dose of Peruna should be taken at the first appearance of a cold in summer, followed by small and oft-repeated doses. There is no other remedy that medical science can furnish, so reliable and quick in its action as Peruna.

Address The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book entitled "Summer Catarrh," which treats of the catarrhal diseases peculiar to summer.

Important Improvements In New York Institution.

NO CORNERS ABOVE BASEMENT.

Amazing Precautionary Measures In Construction of New St. Bartholomew's Clinic—No Cracks, Moldings or Ledges to Catch Dust—Steam Coils Hung Upon the Walls.

St. Bartholomew's new clinic in New York city, which was recently opened for inspection, has been treated architecturally in such a way as to show that it belongs to the buildings of St. Bartholomew's church, which stands near by. It will provide new quarters for the clinic which St. Bartholomew's church has maintained for some years in a rented building, says the New York Evening Post. The architects of the building have made a special study of hospital construction for several years and have succeeded in devising several important improvements conducive to aseptic conditions.

No woodwork will appear in the finished work. The window and exterior door frames are covered with copper. The sashes and interior doors are covered with calcimined iron, the interior door frames are of cast iron, and the shelving, table tops and counters are of stone or steel, supported on iron standards.

There are absolutely no angles or projections in the building above the basement. All intersections of all surfaces meet with a uniform curve. This has been carried out in all details, not only the walls, ceilings and floors, but also the stairs, shelf and table standards, window recesses, etc., throughout. The sashes and doors are so constructed that there are no moldings or broken surfaces between the frames and glass or panels. The surface of the frame meets the glass with a feather edge and the corners of the sash and door panels are also rounded, so there may be no lodging place for the collection of dirt or foreign matter. The angles or corners above the window line are run in plaster.

The materials used in the interior construction have been selected for their compliance with the requirements of a building which from its nature must provide aseptic conditions. Especial care has been taken in the construction of the operating rooms. The room for more important operations on the fifth floor is considered the most perfect yet built. The corners of the room are rounded to a large radius and the ceiling domed. There are no set fixtures in the room except a small basin to catch the drip from the sterilized water faucets. All plumbing, sterilizing and other apparatus is arranged in the sterilizing room adjoining, and all operating tables, cabinets and apparatus are portable.

To preserve a uniform temperature in the operating rooms and counteract the cooling effect of the large glass surface of the skylights the skylights have been constructed double, an inner and outer skylight, with a space of two and one-half feet between. In the wall space between the skylights, but not showing in the operating room, steam coils are placed so that the air space is made really warmer than the room itself, the glass thereby becoming a warming rather than a cooling surface. The coil is governed by thermostat control by the temperature of the room.

All furniture used in the building is of steel from special designs and of an unusually exact and careful workmanship, all finished in white enamel to correspond with the walls and ceilings of the interior. Compressed air is carried to the throat and nose and ear treatment rooms, with regulating gauges and sprays. An X ray outfit is included in the provision for the operating rooms.

The ventilating plant is calculated to provide thirty cubic feet of fresh air per capita on a maximum rating regardless of outside temperature, and this fresh air supply will be provided summer and winter without causing drafts on the occupants of any of the rooms. The fresh air is taken from a large court and passed through fine screens to remove dust and dirt, thence through a large tempering coil and fan and delivered through fresh air ducts and registers to the various rooms. A different set of ducts convey the vitiated air from the rooms to the dechlorhouses, whence two fans discharge it through the roof. The air entering the rooms in cold weather will be warmed to about 68 or 70 degrees F., and in warm weather it will be the same as the outside temperature. The tempering coil is controlled automatically by thermostat valves, so the temperature of air entering the rooms is maintained at the desired degree.

The heating plant consists of radiators of plate and simplest patterns set in window recesses throughout the building and controlled by thermostatic valves placed in the rooms, so that the temperature of one room is entirely independent of another. The radiators are hung from walls on brackets in order to do away with the radiator legs on floors and their obstruction to cleaning.

Fashions in Fobs.

With the smart girl the fob is taking the place of the watch chain, says the June Woman's Home Companion. But it is only the fob which shows originality which finds favor in her eyes. She cares nothing for the conventional one of black moire ribbon or gold links. The Cupid fob is the latest. The chubby faces of two rose gold Cupids look out from gold wings which in certain lights reveal tints of green and pink. The winged heads are connected by rose gold chains and finished with a heart charm.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

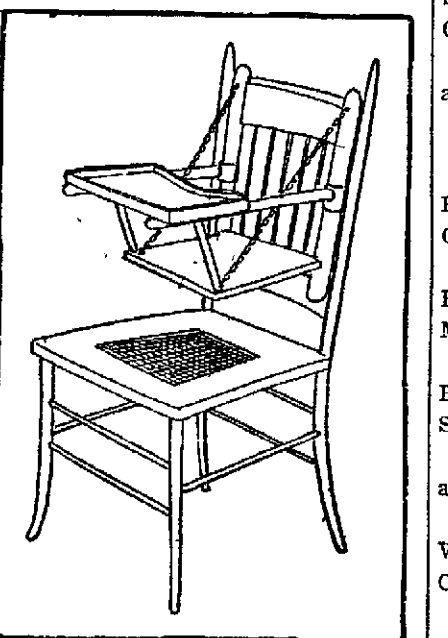

Household Cleanliness.
All housekeepers worthy the name aspire to cleanliness without stopping to think that it is of three sorts—traditional, aesthetic and sanitary. It may be remarked in passing that the last of these three is the only one that bears any intimate relation to godliness.

Traditional cleanliness was the strong point of the old fashioned model housekeeper. She directed her energies to ceaseless scrubbing and scouring, but was the sworn enemy of air and sunshine. She rejoiced in cotton stuffed coverlets, allover carpets and similar loaves for cataproducing disease germs, and she cared little about the location of the well provided it was handy for her persistent but misdirected cleansing operations.

Aesthetic cleanliness, as still practiced in nine houses out of ten, is even more heedless of the laws of health. It was in deference to its demands that plumbers invented wood cased water pipes and furniture dealers the folding bed and washing cabinet. All it demands is that whatever it fancies unsightly shall be covered up or put out of the way.

Now, sanitary cleanliness—it might also be called real cleanliness in distinction from the other sorts—is a very different matter. It rests on the two great sciences of physiology and bacteriology, and it cannot be successfully secured without at least a rudimentary knowledge of the principles on which it is founded. The old fashioned housekeeper hated dust because it looked untidy and provoked the adverse criticism of her sex. Her granddaughter hates it because it excites pulmonary diseases or is likely to contain stray germs inimical to health. The practical difference lies in the fact that the scientific housekeeper will make war not only against the dust in sight, but against the dust which she merely suspects of existing. She has seen through the microscope the secrets of air and water, and her standard for the purity of the household surroundings is raised by her knowledge of the invisible dangers to health and comfort.

High Chair For Baby.
One of the earliest requirements of a child is a high chair with a shelf in front to prevent a fall and serve as a tray when mealtime arrives. As a very convenient substitute for the common high chair Alfred H. Hunting of Iron Mountain, Mich., has designed the arrangement shown in the drawing. As will be seen, this device is intended for use in connection with an ordinary dining chair and does not interfere in any way with the use of the latter by grown persons, while the seat can be folded in small compass when not needed for the child. The frame consists of two vertical posts of sufficient length to extend from the upper to the lower crosspiece of the chair back, with a seat pivoted between the posts and supported at the outer ends by two chains. In addition there is a tray having extension braces at the sides for insertion in brackets on the uprights, supported by two vertical posts pivoted to the front of the seat. By detaching the braces from the brackets and allowing the tray to tilt forward and down the seat is exposed to make it an easy matter to place the child in position or lift it out. The device is suspended on the chair by means of two hooks, which screw into the posts, and their adjustment raises the seat to the required height. To fold the seat the tray is allowed to tilt down and the seat is lifted against the posts, when the tray is folded back on the underside of the seat, making a perfectly flat package and leaving the chair for common use.

Visible Ice.

Modern kitchens offer the very best proof that neatness and cleanliness are catered to in a thoroughly satisfactory manner nowadays. The housekeeper of the present day has no faith in things unseen. Both manufacturers and inventors find it to their interest to be governed by this new dispensation in domestic matters. Their latest achievement has done away with the old time metal water cooler by supplying the same receptacle in glass and in two sizes. The larger one is a ten gallon cylinder in the center of which is a tin cylinder for holding ice, so that the water, once filtered, cannot be contaminated by any impurities in the ice. A smaller five gallon cylinder of glass contains a glass case for the ice, which is far more attractive to the eye, but is much more liable to breakage than the metal one when carelessly handled. Both of these water coolers cost $10 each.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORT.

Denison Breaks Even at Morgantown.

PHILPOT PITCHED TWO GAMES ON TUESDAY.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY.

First Ball Game in Newark on Decoration Day—Lajoie Case—Noonan's Death—Notes.

Philpot on Tuesday attempted to perform a feat that is seldom accomplished, to win two games in one afternoon, and although his work was excellent, he lost one of his games, with West Virginia. The following from Morgantown tells the brief story of the two games.

Morgantown, W. Va., May 28.—In a double header on University Athletic field Tuesday afternoon Denison college and West Virginia university broke even at base ball. West Virginia university lost the first game by stupid base running after clearly outbattling and outfielding their opponents, and won the second game by better all around playing.

W. Virginia 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—2 8 3
Denison . . . 0 0 2 0 0 2 0 0 0—4 5 2
Batteries, West Virginia, Washer and Shriver; Denison, Philpot and Gee.

W. Virginia . . . 3 2 0 0 0 0—5 3 3
Denison . . . 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 5 3
Batteries, West Virginia, Bowman and Shriver; Denison, Philpot and Gee.

Tuesday's Base Ball.
The base ball games Tuesday resulted as follows:

National League.
At St. Louis: R. H. E.
St. Louis . . . 11 13 1
Chicago . . . 2 8 3
Batteries, Murphy and O'Neil, Glade and Kahoe.

American League.
At Baltimore: R. H. E.
Baltimore . . . 7 7 0
Chicago . . . 1 4 2
Batteries, McGinnity, Robinson and Bresnahan, Callahan, Paterson and McFarland.

At Boston: R. H. E.
Boston . . . 6 12 0
St. Louis . . . 2 10 9
Batteries, Young and Criger, Reid and Sugden.
At Washington: R. H. E.
Washington . . . 7 12 0
Cleveland . . . 1 4 4
Batteries, Patten and Clarke; Moore and Bemis.

Columbus Lost.
Coggswell was hit hard and Columbus failed to support him Tuesday, with the result that Indianapolis won from the Senators 7 to 3. Suthoff on the other hand was steady and only allowed six hits off his delivery.

Cause of Noonan's Death.
Boston, May 28.—Tommy Noonan, the boxer, who died after a bout with Tommy Dixon of Chicago last week from "over exertion" according to Medical Examiner Harris' report, had a thin skull and both physically and mentally was in no condition to spar or exercise violently on the night of the bout. Noonan's right name was Joan Cassidy.

Newark vs. Bellville.

The game between the newly organized Newark team, and the crack organization of Bellville will be played on the new grounds in East Newark on Decoration day afternoon. The new fence which is to be 10 feet high was commenced this morning and will be completed for the game Friday. A large force of carpenters was put to work on the fence this morning and the work will be rapidly pushed to completion. The Newark players who are expected to report for the game are all in excellent condition, while the resident players are always in shape. It is said that the men who are interested in the promoting of baseball in Newark will incorporate these men include some of the highest standing in business and professional circles, who realize that Newark is large enough to support a ball team, and will if the right kind of sport is furnished.

Manager Louis Swinehart is a very busy man at present, arranging the details for the opening of the new ball park.

Denison vs. W. & J. Today.

Denison plays today in Washington Pa., where they meet W & J on the latter's home grounds. Their showing at Morgantown where they played West Virginia two games Tuesday breaking even, was most satisfactory to the team's most hearty supporters. When W. & J. was at Granville, where they were beaten 13 to 5, they laid their defeat to umpire Fred Hutson and threats of retaliation were freely made when Denison went to Washington. It is hoped, however, that the game today is cleanly and honestly played and may be the best team win W. & J. never had a chance to win at Granville, acknowledging the fact that Hutson gave them the worst of it, as Denison outplayed them at all points of the game. On sover second thought it is desirable that no attempt be made on the part of the Pennsylvania college athletes to take an unfair advantage of the visitors, even if it is the nature of what appears to them, justifiable retaliation.

HAVENT SIGNED.

Cleveland, May 28.—Napoleon Lajoie the erstwhile second baseman of the Philadelphia National and American League teams, and Pitcher Bernhardt, of the same teams, arrived in Cleveland Tuesday, but as yet have failed to sign Cleveland contracts. On their arrival here they were met at the station by Charles Somers, vice president of the American League and J. F. Kilfoyle, the president of the local club.

These four and a prominent local attorney held a secret conference.

"I have nothing to say except that Lajoie and Bernhardt have not signed," said President Kilfoyle. "I am sorry that I cannot give out some definite news, but the fact remains that I can not."

"Will they sign?" he was asked.

"I am not sure."

Lajoie and Bernhardt were seen later at the Kennard House, where they are stopping.

"Yes, it is true that we have not signed," said Lajoie. "No, there was not a hitch in our conference, but we went over the whole deal very carefully and consequently had not finished when Mr. Somers had to leave to attend other business."

"Will you go back to Col. Rogers?" Lajoie was asked.

"It does not look as if we would," he answered. "He had the chance to do what was right, but failed to take advantage of the opportunity."

Sporting Notes.

With George Graesser, Wilson Heisey and D. C. Crider on the Newark team, the make up has enough local color to add interest and zest to the games played by the new Newark team.

Bill Shriver who was with the Cincinnati and Pittsburg teams for several years, is now catching good ball for Louisville in the American Association.

Don't fail to see Hedges, the deaf mute catcher, recently signed by the Newark team, in Friday's game. He is a quiet gentleman and a windup artist of great ability.

D. C. Crider, the night ticket agent at the Pan Handle depot will be in center field for Newark next Friday. Crider's ability as a ball player is not generally known, but it is of a high order.

Wilson Heisey is one of the best ball players ever seen in Newark, and could have on many occasions accepted flattering professional offers. He will play second for Manager Swinehart's team Friday.

Zanesville lost Tuesday to Greenfield by a score of 2 to 1. The game was played at Greenfield and was a fine exhibition of light hitting and fast fielding.

Tom Jenkins of Cleveland, is in Cincinnati ready for his match at mixed styles or wrestling with Charley Wither of Cincinnati. Both men are in good condition and confident of victory.

Joe Macias, manager of Kid Broad claims that the decision which was given to Young Corbett over his man at Denver, last Friday night, was the "rawest deal" he ever received or heard of.

George H. Ketcham owner of Crescens, the champion trotter, has announced that the horse will be trained at the Ketcham farm until July 1, when he will work over the Glenville track at Cleveland.

Danny Dougherty of Philadelphia, and George Dixon boxed a fast and clever seven round draw Tuesday night before the Globe Athletic club of Philadelphia.

MOHAMMEDANS AT PRAYER

They Always Respond When the Voice of the Muezzin Calls.

The Mohammedan begins his prayer kneeling, with his hands outspread and his thumbs touching the lobes of his ears. In this position he repeats certain passages from the Koran, then brings his hands down to his groin, holds them and recites several other passages from the same book. Next he bends forward, rests both hands upon his knees and repeats three times with bowed head the formula of prayer to God, the most great. Then he rises and says, "Allah hu akbar!" (God is great sixteen times.

He then drops forward until his forehead touches the ground between his extended hands. He strikes his head upon the floor at least three times, proclaiming his humility, and often a dozen and sometimes twenty times the act will be repeated, according to his desire to show humility and repentance. He then returns to his knees and, setting back upon his heels, repeats a ritual. Next, arising to his feet, he holds his hands and concludes the prayer, repeating over and again the words, "There is no god but God, and Mohammed is his prophet."

This may be repeated once or a dozen or forty times, according to the piety of the worshiper, and he holds a string of beads in his hands to keep tally. His obligations are then accomplished, but he can go through the same ritual again as many times as he likes. The more frequently he does so the better. Mohammed is. His piety is measured by the number of times he repeats his prayers, and, like the Pharisees of the Scriptures, he prays in public places. No matter where he happens to be or by whom he is surrounded, whether at labor in the fields or selling goods in his shop or however he may be employed, the Mohammedan never forgets to pray when the voice of the muezzin reminds him that the hour for devotion has arrived.

When a boy is told that he is a chip of the old block it generally makes him feel chippier.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Contest Pailer.
When the spellbinding begins in Pennsylvania this fall, says a Washington correspondent, Major Alexander McDowell will resume the office conferred upon him two years ago by Senator Quay. It is that of contest pailer. The duties of that office in no way interfere with those of his other position, which is that of clerk of the house of representatives. The other office came into existence at Norristown in the fall of 1900, while Quay was making his memorable canvass for re-election to the senate. The colonel realized that the men in his party were talking too long, so he designated McDowell as the person to notify the man on his feet that he had spun his yarn to a suitable length. It was agreed that the major should pull the contest of the speaker when he had consumed twenty minutes.

Quay was the first man to feel the tug that notified him that he must shut up, but the notice startled the "old man." He turned such a look of surprise at the major that he became the central figure in the hall. Then it dawned upon the senator that the major was only carrying out his duty appointed task.

"All right, major; I'll quit," said the senator. "You know your part all right." Turning to the crowd, the senator said "Good night" and left the stage without even a word of apology for the abruptness of his conclusion.

How Secretary Root Rests.

Secretary Root is generally recognized as one of the hardworking members of the cabinet. Indeed, some of his friends have felt called upon to warn him that his exertions in the interests of the war department often carry him past the line of prudence, but the secretary has been known, says the Washington Star, to rest his brain when the fact is entirely unsuspected. A short time ago a delegation from one of the southern states called upon him to urge the establishment of a large camp in a certain part of their state. Almost immediately after they had left the department a newspaper man saw the secretary and asked: "Mr. Secretary, in what part of — did they want the camp located?"

Mr. Root looked just the tiniest bit embarrassed. Then he came out with it. "Honestly, I do not know," he said.

They had talked it to him for nearly half an hour, and he had not heard it.

She Made a Sensation.

Miss Alice Morton, who has just created a mild sensation by introducing into Chicago the new feminine fashion of carrying a cane, is the niece of Levi P. Morton, who was formerly vice president of the United States. This cane, or stick, to use the proper term, has a crooked head, around which a silver snake with emerald eyes gently entwines itself. Miss Morton belongs to the smartest set in New York and is one of the most popular girls in Gotham society.

Frankish Beresford.

It is said that Lord Charles Beresford on first entering the house of commons, a very young man, in 1868 was inexpressibly addicted to playing pranks of all kinds. One old member, who suffered from gout, used to retire to one of the back benches under the reporters' gallery behind the speaker's chair and, taking off his boots, sleep soundly until awakened by the ringing of the bells which precedes a division. One night the old gentleman on being aroused from his slumbers by a division hastily put on one boot, but no trace of the other could be found. It had disappeared in some mysterious fashion. The wags found him under the bench, distractedly searching for the boot, and by force bundled him into the lobby with one boot off and the other boot on, amid rounds of good named laughter. Later on the missing boot was "accidentally" discovered by Lord Charles Beresford under his own special seat.

COL. COIT

ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT OF HONORARY STAFF.

Newark Men Named in the List—A Conference in Columbus Friday Afternoon.

Colonel A. B. Coit of the Fourth regiment has appointed his honorary staff from a number of men who have been prominent in military circles in the past but are no longer connected with any organizations. The following letter accompanied the notice of appointment:

"For the purpose of gaining the advice and co-operation of experienced officers, I have decided to create an honorary unofficial staff made up of officers who have served in the guard and the United States army with distinction.

"I have the honor to tender you an appointment on said staff and will be pleased to have you accept before May 22, when orders will be issued appointing the staff."

The staff is made up as follows: Captain C. S. Ammel, Major C. V. Barker, Captain B. L. Bargar, Colonel W. L. Curry, Major John W. Chapin, Captain George L. Converse U. S. A., Captain R. L. Elliott, Captain E. M. Helwagen, Captain R. E. Hall, Colonel James Kilbourne, Captain George B. Kilbourne, Captain Ed T. Miller, Captain Charles Merion, Jr., Captain N. S. McCoy, Colonel Joseph D. Potter, Captain J. C. L. Pugh, Captain E. M. Slack, Captain F. L. Thornton, Captain W. O. Tolford, Lieutenant Colonel Joseph J. Walsh, Captain T. P. Williams, Captain MacLee Wilson, Columbus; Captain Carl B. Allen, Newark; Lieutenant O. J. Hopkins, Toledo; Captain W. B. McCloud, Hyattsville; Major E. M. Semans, Delaware; Major John L. Sellers, Marysville; Captain J. C. Schindler, Newark; Major Harry P. Ward, Worthington; Captain C. W. Wiles, Delaware; Captain T. B. Wright, Circleville; Captain James Woltz, Chillicothe.

The members of the staff have been asked to assemble at the new armory at Columbus at 2:45 Friday in fatigues uniform, for conference.

Lineman Hurt

Charles J. Hastings, a lineman employed on the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark railroad, while attempting to board a Hocking Valley train at Steelton, missed his footing and fell under the cars. His right foot was crushed and he was taken to the Protestant hospital by Fletcher's ambulance where the foot was amputated. Hastings is 33 years old and his home is at Brandon, Vt.—Columbus Press.

WON THE CHARM—Al Parkinson, secretary of the local union of the N. A. T. S. E. has presented to Mr. Frank T. Lippincott the charm which was to be presented to the member of the union selling the largest number of tickets for the stage hands' benefit given some time ago. Mr. Lippincott distanced all competitors although several of the boys gave him a hard tussle. The charm is of solid gold and emblematic of the organization by which it was given. Frank is as proud of the charm as a boy is with his first pair of red top boots. There are always two sides to a question—the wrong side and our side.

SECRETS

In Official Life are Rife—Quarrel Between Mayor and Chief of Police at Zanesville.

Zanesville, O., May 28.—At Monday night's meeting of the City Council an ordinance introduced provided for the reduction of the present police force from 21 to 16 members. It was passed to a second reading. Two weeks ago Chief of Police Tracy submitted his annual report in which he favored an increase of the present police force by the addition of a half dozen patrolmen, advancing as his reason the present rapid growth of the city, the addition of many new industries, &c. Following the reading of the Chief's report the Mayor, Dr. Holden, submitted a communication in which he relieved Chief Tracy of his position and named his successor, all of which was reported to the Police Committee. The City Council took up this matter and the committee reported the communication back without any recommendation. The Council thus protects the Chief against the Mayor, but spurns his recommendations. It is evident that the police and Mayor's scandal that has been brewing for the past year will come to the surface within the next two weeks—prior to the next meeting of the Council—as the friends of Chief Tracy and Mayor Holden are warming up to the talking temperature, and already many official secrets have become public property.

OHIO NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS

Zanesville—S. A. Weller has let the contract for the construction of this beautiful new theatre for Zanesville. Work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Columbus—Mrs. Mary Evans, alias Mrs. Mary Plexotto, was arraigned in police court Tuesday afternoon for practicing midwifery without a license. She demanded a jury and the case was continued to next Tuesday for hearing.

Chillicothe—Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Minus Smith, of Clarksburg, aged 4 and 2 years, played "doctor" yesterday afternoon and now the younger is at the point of death. The elder, who was "doctor" secured some toothache medicine, composed of creosote and laudanum, and gave his little brother two ounces of it. When the mother discovered what had happened two physicians were hastily summoned but the child is still in a most critical condition.

Akron—Young Abraham Simley discovered his grown up sister Emma and John Elder seated on the front porch, both apparently asleep leaning against posts at opposite sides of the steps. He fired a gun between them to wake them up. Policeman Colton took the boy into custody and told Mayor Buel it was only a joke, but on the strength of the testimony of the sister and the sister's beau the youngster was fined the costs.

Columbus—Charles Klein, a Montgomery county habitual, serving a life sentence has brought suit in habeas corpus to beat the habitual criminal law. Attorney Thomas Steele, who brings the suit, contends that under the law the 25 habitual criminals now in the pen should be restored to liberty, while the Attorney General holds that the repeal can not affect the term of prisoners already in the pen.

LINEHAN BROS.

BROTHER GARDNER.

Some Wisdom by the President of the Limekiln Club.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]
Most all sorts of chickens ar' willin' 'nuff to lay aigs when aigs am 20 cents a dozen.

We's all got a feelin' dat we don't want to say anything agin a dead man, but we also find ourselves wishin' dat sartin persons could return to de flesh fur about fifteen minits an' gin us a show to talk.

If de mewl didn't kick back now an' den, folks would in time size him up fur a cow or a boss an' put him in a false position.

Nuffin succeeds like success, an' dat's de reason I hev'n smakin' admirashun fur a man who has sot on de fence all summer an' won a medal as de laziest man in town.

We should bring up our chillen in de way dey should go, but most of us bring 'em up in de way we want ourselves.

It's all in de way you look at things. I've heard prayers dat de Lord might send rain to save de crops, an' I've heard prayers dat he might induce a man to leave his chicken coop wide open on a dark night.

I hain't sayin' dat money has any influence wid religion, but I've allus noticed dat Deacon Davis' "amens" hev a little mo' heart in 'em when de pew rents am all paid up.

While I is cheerfully willin' to advise my feller men to marry fur luv an' leave de money question out, candor compels me to state dat Mrs. Gardner had fo' acres of land an' a cow when I first felt dat I could not lib widout her. M. QUAD.

He Was Loaded.

He had been describing the battle of Gettysburg—how the cannons roared, the musketry crashed and the troops dashed forward—and his half dozen listeners were intensely interested. When he seemed to have finished and was sighing over the dead and wounded, one of the group inquired:

"Sir, may I ask what part you took in that memorable battle?"

"I—I wasn't there at all," was the hesitating reply.

"Not there? You were not a participant?"

"No, sir."

"Then, how—how?"

"Oh, I got up early that morning and got the papers and read every line of the account, and if any of you thinks I'm mistaken about it I've got two or three of the old papers in my grip. I always carry 'em with me to settle any disputed point."
